

¹ As Defendant correctly states in his motion, during the sentencing hearing before this Court, defense counsel noted that “the start date of [Defendant’s] incarceration needs to be moved back six months. He actually began—much like the previous two defendants he was arrested on June 7th, 2017, in Costa Rica on this case and has remained in continuous custody ever since. So I would ask that the presentence report be corrected to reflect that on page 2.” When the Government affirmed that this date was correct, the Court then instructed the probation office, “Let’s go ahead and reflect that he was arrested in Costa Rica on June 7, 2017.” The probation officer responded, “Yes, your honor.” The PSR does not yet appear to have been corrected to reflect the June 7 date.
